LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE

archives of the insurgents demonstrate that this attack had been carefully planned for weeks before it occurred. Their unprovoked assault upon our soldiers at a time when the senate was deliberating upon the treaty shows that no action on our part except surrender and abandonment would have prevented the shedding of blood and the loss of life and property.

"With all the exaggerated phrase-making of this electoral contest, we are in danger of being diverted from the real contentions."

ALL PARTIES ALIKE RESPONSIBLE.

"We are in agreement with all those who support the war with Spain and also with those who counsel the adoption of the treaty of peace. Upon these two great essential steps there can be no issue and out of these came all our responsibilities. If others should shrink the obligations imposed by the war and the treaty we must decline to accept. It is not for us to establish in the Philippines a government suitable to the wants and conditions of the inhabitants and to prepare them for self-government when they are ready for it and as rapidly as they are ready for it. That is an aim to do, under my constitutional authority, and will continue to do until Congress shall determine the political status of the inhabitants of the archipelago."

"Are our opponents against the treaty? If so, they must be reminded that it could not have been ratified in the senate but for their assistance. The senate which ratified the treaty and the congress which adopted it are the same body."

MORE TO LAUDATORY THAN TAGALIS.

"Would our opponents surrender to the insurgents, abandon our sovereignty, or cede it to them? If that be not their purpose then it must be promptly disclaimed, for any evil can result from the hopes raised by the opponents in the minds of the Filipinos. But with the success of our policy in November there was a withdrawal of our army and of American sovereignty over the archipelago, the complete independence of the Tagalog people recognized, and the powers of government over all the peoples of the archipelago conferred upon the Tagalog leaders."

"The effect of a belief in the minds of the Tagalos that this will be done has already prolonged the rebellion and increased the necessity for the continuance of a large army. It is now delaying full peace in the archipelago and the establishment of civil government and has influenced many of the insurgents against accepting the liberal terms of amnesty offered by General MacArthur under my direction. But for these false hopes, a considerable reduction could have been had in our military establishment in the Philippines and the realization of a stable government would be already at hand."

"CONSENT OF THE GOVERNED."

"The American people are asked by our opponents to yield the sovereignty of the United States to the Philippines, a single tribe of the eighty or more inhabiting the archipelago, a faction which wantonily attacked the American troops in Manila while in rightful possession of the protocol with Spain, awaiting the ratification of the treaty of peace by the senate, and which since then has been in active rebellion against the United States. We are asked to transfer our sovereignty to a small minority in the islands without consulting the majority, and abandoning a large portion of the population which has been loyal to us to the cruelties of the insurgent band."

MILITARISM SURE ENOUGH.

"This would require an army and navy far larger than is now maintained in the Philippines and still more in excess of what will be necessary with the full recognition of our sovereignty. A military support of authority not our own as this proposed is the very essence of militarism, which our opponents in their platform oppose, but which by their policy would of necessity be established in its most offensive form."

"The American people will not make the murderers of our soldiers the agents of the republic to convey the blessings of liberty and order in the Philippines. They will not make them the builders of the new commonwealth. Such a course would be a betrayal of our sacred obligations to the peaceful Filipinos and would place at the disposal of the invaders the lives and property of the natives and foreigners. It would make possible and easy the commission of such atrocities as were secretly planned, to be executed on the 22nd of February, 1900, in the city of Manila, when only the vigilance of our army prevented the attempt to assassinate our soldiers and our foreign and Philippine residents and the city and its surroundings."

A PROTECTORATE ABSURD.

"In short, the proposition of those opposed to us is to continue all the obligations of the Philippines which now rest upon the government, only changing the relation from principal, which now exists, to that of surety. Our responsibility is to remain, but our power is to be diminished. Our obligation is to be no less, but our title is to be surrendered to a power which is without experience or training or the ability to maintain a stable government at home, and absolutely helpless to perform its obligations with the rest of the world. To this we are opposed. We should not yield our title while our obligations rest in the language of our platform, 'our authority should not be less than our responsibility,' and our present responsibility is to establish our authority in every part of the islands."

"No government can so certainly preserve the peace, restore public order, establish law, justice and stable conditions, as ours. Neither can any government so quickly establish a stable government in these islands, except under our right of sovereignty, our authority and our flag. And this we are doing."

"We could not do it as a protectorate power so completely or so successfully as we are doing it now. As the sovereign power, we can initiate and shape means to end and guide the Filipinos to self-development and self-government. As a protectorate power we could not initiate action, but would be compelled to follow and uphold a people with no chance yet to go alone. In the case we can keep both ourselves and the Filipinos from being involved in dangerous complications. In the other we could not protect even the Filipinos until after their trouble had come. Besides, if we cannot establish any government of our own without the consent of the governed, as our opponents contend, then we could not establish a stable government for them, or make ours a protectorate, without the like consent, and neither the majority of the people nor a minority of the people have invited us to assume it. We could not maintain a protectorate even with the consent of the governed, without giving provocation for conflicts and possibly wars."

THE UNQUESTIONABLE TITLE.

"Our rights in the Philippines are now free from outside interference and will continue so in our present relation. They would not be thus free in any other relation. We will not give up our own to guarantee another's sovereignty. Our title is good. Our peace commissioners believed they were receiving a good title when they concluded the treaty. The executive believed that it was a good title when he submitted it to the senate of the United States for its ratification. The senate believed it was a good title when they accepted it, and the congress seems to have not doubted its completeness when they appropriated $20,000,000 provided by the treaty. If any other favored its ratification believed it gave us a bad title, they were not alone in a humbling and embarrassing position. Our title is practically identical with that under which we hold our territory acquired since the beginning of the government and under which we have exercised full sovereignty and established government for the inhabitants."

THE ISSUE IN A NUTSHELL.

"It is worthy of note that no one outside of the United States disputes the fullness and integrity of the concession. What is the real issue on this subject? Whether it is paramount to war or not, it is whether we shall be responsible for the government of the Philippines with the sovereignty and authority which enables us to guide them to regulated liberty, law, safety and progress, or whether we shall be responsible for the forcible and arbitrary government of a minority, without sovereignty and authority, and with only the title of an embarrassment of a protectorate which draws us into their troubles without the power of preventing them."

THOSE WHO PLAY MUST PAY.

"There were those who two years ago were rushing us on to war with Spain who are unwilling now to accept its clear consequences, as there are those among us who advocated the ratification of the treaty of peace but now protest against its obligations. Nations which go to war must be prepared to accept its resultant obligations, and when they make treaties must keep them."

HYPOCRISY OF THE ANTI.

"Those who profess to distrust the liberal and honorable purposes of the administration in its treatment of the Philippines are not justified. Imperialism has no place in its creed or conduct. Freedom is the rock upon which the Republican party was built and now rests. Liberty is the great Republican doctrine for which the people went to war and for which a million lives were offered and billions of dollars expended, to make it the lawful legacy of all without the consent of master or slave."

There is a strain of ill-concealed hypocrisy in the anxiety to extend the constitutional guarantee to the people of the Philippines, while their nullification is openly advocated at home. Our opponents may distrust themselves, but they have no right to discredit the good faith and patriotism of the majority of the people who are opposed to them; they may fear the worst form of imperialism for the helpless Philippines, but they have no right to do it, it is because they have parted with the spirit and faith of the founders and have lost the vitality of the founders of the party which they profess to represent."

THE "DECLARATION" WHINE.

"The Republican party does not have to assert its devotion to the Declaration of Independence. That immortal instrument of the fathers remained unexecuted until the people and the president and the Republican party in the awful clash of battle turned its promises into fulfillment. It wrote into the constitution the amendments guaranteeing political equality to American citizenship and it has never broken them or counselled others in breaking them. It will not be guided in its conduct by one set of principles at home and another set in the new territory belonging to the United States."

"If our opponents would only practice as well as preach the doctrines of Abraham Lincoln there would be no fear for the safety of our institutions at home or in any territory over which our flag floats."

WHO THE REAL IMPERIALIST IS.

"Empire has been expelled from Porto Rico and the Philippines by American freedom. The flag of the republic now floats over these islands as an emblem of rightful sovereignty. Will the republic stay and dispense to their inhabitants the blessings of liberty, education and free institutions, or shall we allow, leaving them to anarchy or imperialism, to be the duty and desertion—the American verdict for the republic and against both anarchy and imperialism."

THE CHINESE QUESTION.

"The country has been fully advised of the purposes of the United States in China, and they will be faithfully adhered to as already defined."

RESCUE OF THE LEGATIONEERS.

"The nation is filled with gratitude that the little band among them who for two months have been subjected to privation and peril by the attacks of the ruthless hordes at the Chinese capital, exhibiting supreme courage in the face of despair, have been enabled by God's favor to greet their rescuers and find shelter under their own flag.

"The people not alone of this land but of all lands have watched and prayed through the terrible stress and protracted agony of the helpless sufferers in Peking, and while at times the dark tidings seemed to make all hope vain, the rescuers never faltered in the heroic fulfillment of their noble task."

"We are grateful to our own soldiers and sailors and marines, and to all the brave men who, though assembled under many standards, representing many peoples and races, strangers in country and speech, were yet united in the sacred mission of carrying succor to the beleaguered, with a success that is now the cause of a world's rejoicing."

THE RE-UNITED NATION.

"Not only have we reason for thanksgiving for our material blessings, but we should rejoice in the complete unification of the people of all sections of our country that has so happily developed in the last few years and made for us a more perfect union. The obliteration of old differences, the common devotion to the flag and the common sacrifice for its honor, so conspicuously shown by the men of the north and the south in the Spanish war, have so strengthened the ties of friendship and mutual respect that nothing can ever again divide us. The nation faces the new century gratefully and hopefully, with increasing love of country, with firm faith in its own institutions, and with high resolve that they shall not perish from the earth."

BIGGER REPUBLICAN VOTE

Is Counted On -- Notes of Western Party Leaders.

(Special Correspondence of the Eagle.)

Lakin, Kan., Sept. 10.—The largest meeting that Chester L. Long ever had at this place was the one of Saturday night. He drove from Garden City after his afternoon meeting there, and found a packed hall awaiting him here. The meeting was like the others have been out in the short grass country—very enthusiastic and successful.

Kearney county is no exception to the general rule this year. Like all of the western counties, it is figuring on an increased Republican vote and will be much surprised if it does not get it. The situation is very favorable.

Dr. G. F. Johnston is the present Republican representative from Kearney county, and is a candidate for re-election. He made a good representative two years ago, and will be a leader in the house of 1901.

Kearney county depends very largely upon irrigation for its success. There is probably no county in the west where irrigation is so successfully or generally pursued as here. The result is highly favorable. Great alfalfa fields are everywhere to be seen, and the valley of the Arkansas is a most verdant one.

The result of the old county seat fight between Hartland and Lakin has resulted in almost complete elimination of the former, and Lakin is a busy little city, prosperous and happy. It is practically the only town in the county at present.

Fred Smith, candidate for state senator in this district, is as popular here as elsewhere, and will receive a good vote. Finney county—Garden City—is noted for its statesmen, like Larned. There is District Judge William Easton Hutchinson, one of the smoothest politicians in the short grass country. He began years ago as county attorney of Grant county, then was appointed judge, and has been re-elected every time since. Henry Mason, present representative from Finney county and Republican candidate for re-election, is a young man, a strong man and a good lawyer. Judge D. M. Frost is an old-timer. He has been probate judge, representative, irrigation commissioner for the state and receiver of the land office. Colonel Bob Hopkins has had a few terms in the legislature, and is a successful attorney. Arthur Burris was representative in 1897 and is now a special agent of the general land office. On the fusion side, Ed Westgate, clerk of the appellate court, and candidate on the fusion ticket for auditor of state, lives here and runs a Populist paper. Finney county always has been prominent in the politics of Kansas.

"Buffalo" Jones is one of the men who started Garden City—in fact, the man. He had a quarter-section of land here in the early days and beat the Santa Fe to the townsite. The railroad wanted the site elsewhere, but Jones got the land office on his quarter and then the road came to his townsite. He made thousands and spent them. He didn't like the way some of his opponents tried to build the town their way, and so started it in another direction, and erected fine buildings on his land. He built a court house and gave it to the county, but later mortgaged it to some eastern parties, and the county got into trouble with the mortgage. He planted trees, and built a big house. He planted trees, and Garden City today is a garden. He went to the legislature. He broke up, and quit the county and town, and is now a candidate on the fusion ticket for state senator in Shawnee county. So has the highly fallen.
